

SAY BIG CHECK DISAPPEARED AT INQUEST

By EDDY GILMORE
EASTBOURNE, England (P) — Prosecutor Melford Stevenson charged today that a 1,000-pound — $2,800 — check disappeared at the inquest of an elderly patient of Dr. John Bodkin Adams.

The prosecutor is attempting to show at a preliminary hearing that the prosperous 57-year-old society doctor was responsible for the deaths of three rich patients by making them slaves of drugs and then administering overdoses. The prosecution says he benefited from the patients' gifts and bequests. Murder charges have been filed only in the case of one patient, 81-year-old Mrs. Edith Morrell.

Stevenson charged that the check disappeared at the inquest last August of Mrs. Gertrude Hullett, 50, another patient.

Verdict of Suicide
The inquest verdict was suicide, but the prosecutor claims Adams drove her to kill herself by giving her "large quantities" of dangerous narcotics.

The prosecution says Adams received the check on July 17, six days before her death, and asked his bank to give it special clearance into his account because the doctor knew the patient probably would kill herself the next weekend.

Stevenson introduced a coroner's officer to testify that the check was last seen lying on a table during the inquest on Mrs. Hullett. Then he called a bank cashier to give evidence about the day Adams brought in the check for clearance.

Used Dangerous Drugs
The defense lawyer, Geoffrey Lawrence, objected to the cashier's testimony on the ground that the check might not be the same one. But the five magistrates hearing the case allowed the cashier to continue.

A woman druggist testified that Dr. Adams prescribed dangerous drugs for 71-year-old Alfred J. Hullett's husband, who died four months before his wife.

The druggist, Miss Mary Temple, produced a bundle of 20 prescriptions made out by Adams for Hullett between March, 1955, and March, 1956.

But under examination by defense lawyers Miss Temple admitted some of the prescriptions did not contain dangerous substances.

U. S. MAY BAR GIRLS' RETURN

PHILADELPHIA (P) — The United States took steps today to prevent two Czechoslovakian girls — now separated from their parents — from being returned to their Communist homeland.

The children — Pauline Semensky, 14, and her sister, Angelica, 9 — are presently in a suburban Montgomery County Catholic home where they were placed after they became the wards of Philadelphia's Municipal Court.

U. S. Atty. W. Wilson White entered the case at the request of President Judge Hazel R. Brown who reported that an application had been for the children to return to Czechoslovakia with their parents.

The mother presently is unemployed. The father is a patient in a Philadelphia mental hospital.

White wrote Judge Brown that government investigators have learned that efforts are being made by a Czech diplomatic official to have the Semensky family return to its European home.

Says CBS Breaks Garland Contract

NEW YORK (P) — The husband of Judy Garland says the Columbia Broadcasting System has ended its three-year contract with the singer two years ahead of the expiration date.

Last week, CBS said it had dropped plans for Miss Garland's Feb. 25 show, which would have been her second program under provisions of the contract — calling for one show a year for three years.

Sid Luft, her husband and business manager, said yesterday that CBS, by dropping the February show, "has certainly breached our contract."

Asked if he planned legal action, Luft said, "I expect so." Comment from CBS was not immediately available.

since that time an entirely new board has been elected every four years.

"From time to time the commissioners were given additional duties. In fact they have received so many new responsibilities over the years that they are now the most important administrative body of the county."

Real Estate Increases
"We find that many of the duties of the commissioners are still connected with their original function of aiding assessors and levying and collecting taxes."

"The act of 1954 provides for a chief assessor to be appointed by the commissioners. Adams County consists of 11 boroughs and 21 townships in each of which an assessor is elected by the people of the district."

"The chief assessor is an aid and helps to supervise the local assessors. We have recorded 18,500 different property parcels of real estate and 38,700 resident taxables."

"To give you some comparisons of the growth of Adams County. In 1955 the value of real estate was $21,933,000. In 1956 it was $24,056,000 and in 1957, $26,367,000."

"This, as you will note, represents an increase in three years of more than $4,000,000. Most of the increase in real estate valuation consists of new construction with Gettysburg, Cumberland Twp. and the lower end of Coneyago Twp. showing about a ten per cent increase in values."

"Occupational values in 1955 were $1,721,000. Now they are $1,794,000. In 1955 the personal property value was $6,689,000; in 1956, $7,597,000 and the estimate for 1957 is $8,000,000."

"In Adams County we have exempt and free of taxes real estate valued at $4,416,000. This comprises colleges, churches, etc., but does not include any government land."

"The county commissioners are also the county election board. They take care of all registrations and keep records of each voter in the county, keep up and provide a voting place in each borough and township, and see that ballot boxes are distributed for the spring primary and fall election and make the final tally on all votes cast."

"We have in the county a total registration of 21,338 voters. It may be of interest to know that the election cost the county $26,077 last year, or almost $1.25 per registered voter."

Separate Poor District
"Another important department under the county commissioners is the child welfare service. Here we have two full time workers and a county advisory board which meets each month and is very valuable to the agency. The duty of Child Welfare is to care for children up to 18 years of age who have a neglected home life. The number of children under care varies from 90 to 100. The state reimburses the county 75 per cent on the workers' salaries and a portion on food and clothing. This agency is becoming more important to the county each year."

"A law passed in 1817 made Adams County a separate poor district. The poor directors were elected to erect what they called at that time a poorhouse at Gettysburg. This system continued in force until the enactment of the county institution district on January 1, 1938."

"At that time the office of poor director was abolished and the county commissioners took over the full supervision of the Adams County home. We have a staff of about 18 workers there and an average of about 80 guests. We have a three-mile tax rate for the expense of the Institution District."

"We are also required to provide a county jail for prisoners and furnish the food for the jail and other expenses. Operation of the jail, including pay of the deputies, etc., was $22,751 in 1956."

President Richard E. Shaffer presided at the meeting with 25 members present.

Cratin had been council president for three years and was serving his 12th year on council. His successor as president is now the senior member of council, being in his eighth year.

Lawrence was appointed to the street, sewer and fire committees to replace Neiderer who was chairman of those bodies. Councilman Donald Krepps was named chairman of the street committee and Cyril Weaver as chairman of the sewer and fire committees.

TOSCANINI TO BE BURIED IN NATIVE ITALY

NEW YORK (P) — The body of Maestro Arturo Toscanini, musical genius beloved by millions for more than two generations, will lie in state for public viewing today and tomorrow.

The maestro died in his sleep yesterday morning at his home in Riverdale, the Bronx, after a stroke. He would have been 90 in March.

Not only the great personages mourned the loss of the diminutive man who wove magical webs of entrancing music with his baton. There were also the countless "little people" — their lives enriched by the tapestries of sound produced for them by a dedicated artist.

Lauded By President
Said President Eisenhower in a statement:

"As man and as musician he gained the admiration of the world. He spoke in the universal language of music, but he also spoke in the language of free men everywhere."

"The music he created and the hatred of tyranny that was his are part of the legacy of our time."

There will be a Solemn Requiem Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral at 10 a.m. Saturday. Later the body will be flown to Italy for burial in the family chapel in Milan.

Outside the Milan opera, La Scala, the Italian flag was lowered to half mast yesterday. The orchestra there halted rehearsal for one minute of silent tribute when word of his death was received.

Then director Nino Sanzogno lifted his baton, and rehearsals went on. Said an orchestra member:

"We felt that was what he would have wanted."

Preceding the performance of "Madame Butterfly" at the Metropolitan Opera last night, Dimitri Mitropoulos conducted the prelude to Act IV of Verdi's "La Traviata" — a composition beloved by the maestro. The entire audience rose to pay silent tribute.

BUTCHERING SUP

The FBI Story—by Don Whitehead

CHAPTER 10

The Rebellion Against Crime

John Herbert Dillinger led a kill-crazy gang which swept through the Midwest from September, 1933, until July, 1934, leaving a trail of ten men murdered, seven wounded, four banks robbed, three police arsenals plundered and three jails from which prisoners were freed.

But it wasn't the murders or the robberies or the jail deliveries which first sent the FBI after Dillinger because none of these crimes was a federal law violation. He ran into trouble with the G-Men because he drove a stolen automobile across a state line.

During the twenties most of the country had watched the growth of crime and gangsterism with a so-what attitude. Those fellows in the gangs, many people felt, were no worse than the thieves in dinner jackets who had been corrupting federal, state and local governments; about the only difference was that one group used guns and the other didn't. But this tolerance gave way to angry demands that something be done about the menace of the gangsters and racketeers.

Special Kidnap Line

The country and Congress came to the realization that the federal laws were woefully weak in combating interstate crime. Criminals were operating with high-speed automobiles, armored cars, high-powered rifles, machine guns and armaments which were better than those of the law enforcement agencies. Crime wasn't localized. One gang could, and frequently did, operate across the lines of a half-dozen states.

By 1933 bank robberies were occurring at the rate of almost two a day. Kidnapings had increased alarmingly despite the Lindbergh Kidnap Law. The attorney general had urged people to report kidnappings to the FBI by calling the special "kidnap" number—National 8-7117, Washington, D.C.

Wooden Gun?

Many of the gang operations were not in violation of federal statutes and there were some curious inconsistencies in the laws. For example, a bank official who embezzled $50 from a federal bank in 1933 had violated a federal law. But a gang of bandits might rob a federal bank of $100,000, machine-gun the bank officials and escape into another state without violating a single federal statute. And the bandits could be reasonably sure that pursuit would end at the state line.

Dillinger, wanted in Indiana for the murder of an East Chicago policeman, was recognized in Tucson, Ariz., and arrested with three members of his gang. Tucson police found, among other odds and ends at the Dillinger hide-out, three Thompson sub-machine guns, two Winchester rifles mounted as machine guns, five bullet-proof vests and more than $25,000, part of which was identified as loot from an East Chicago bank.

Dillinger was returned to Indiana and placed in the county jail at Crown Point to await trial. But he escaped on March 3, 1934. He always claimed he frightened the jail guards with a wooden gun which he had fashioned with a razor blade as he whiled away the time in his cell. The red-faced guards said Dillinger had a real 45 which someone had slipped to him.

Traps Sprung

Dillinger grabbed two machine guns, locked up the guards, stole the sheriff's automobile and headed for Chicago. The instant he crossed the Indiana-Illinois state line, he violated a federal law—the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act, commonly known as the Dyer Act, which prohibits transportation of a stolen motor vehicle across a state line.

Mrs. Anna Cumpanas, also known as Anna Sage, was the "Woman in Red" who finally led FBI agents and police to John Dillinger, gang chief of '30s. The bawdyhouse operator later was deported.

On two occasions, agents thought they had Dillinger trapped. Each time he escaped in a barrage of machine-gun fire. But the circle was tightening.

In April the Dillinger gang was found at Little Bohemia Lodge, a summer resort some 50 miles north of Rhinelander, Wis. Warned by barking dogs of the approach of an FBI raiding party, Dillinger and his buddies escaped. A short distance from the lodge, Lester Gillis, alias "Baby Face" Nelson, a member of the Dillinger gang, killed Special Agent W. Carter Baum, and wounded another agent and a local officer.

On the first day of June, Hoover called Special Agent Samuel P. Cowley into his office to give him a special assignment. Cowley was a hefty, 34-year-old Utah lawyer who had served as a missionary in the Mormon Church before he joined the FBI. He was to take charge of the Dillinger search.

Cowley's search led him to Chicago. Dillinger was reported in hiding, recovering from a doctor's attempt to disguise the Dillinger features by plastic surgery. Cowley and Melvin Purvis, special agent in charge of the Chicago office, worked closely with two East Chicago policemen, Capt. Timothy O'Neill and Sgt. Martin Zarkovich, in running down the scores of rumors and tips from people who thought they had recognized Dillinger.

Woman in Red

The break in the case came on July 21. O'Neill and Zarkovich brought a dark-haired, middle-aged woman to the FBI. She was Anna Cumpanas, and she was in trouble. The Immigration and Naturalization Service wanted her deported as an undesirable alien because she was the madam of a bawdyhouse in Gary, Ind.

Her proposition was this. She would lead John Dillinger to the FBI—but she wanted a promise that she would receive a reward and also that something would be done to permit her to remain in the United States.

The reward was promised. Purvis said he would do what he could to help her, and he would call her cooperation to the attention of the Labor Department, which handled deportation matters.

Anna Cumpanas said that John Dillinger was planning to take her and his girl friend, Polly Hamilton, to a movie theater the next evening. How would other FBI agents, who hadn't seen Anna Cumpanas, be able to identify her? Anna said she would be dressed in red.

The FBI men and the policemen recognized Dillinger when he entered the theater with his girl friend and "the Woman in Red." Despite the plastic surgery, the outlaw was identified beyond doubt. Cowley called Hoover, who was pacing the library of his home in Washington. The decision was made to take Dillinger as he came out of the theater, rather than risk a gun battle inside the crowded show house.

When the trio emerged, by prearrangement Purvis lit a cigar. Dillinger must have sensed that something was wrong. He glanced over his shoulder and saw an agent moving toward him. He darted toward an alley, clashing a pistol from his pants pocket. But before he could get his gun into action three FBI agents fired five shots. Slugs tore into Dillinger's body and he pitched on his face. The chase was over. Cowley paid Anna Cumpanas $5,000 from the $10,000 reward money which the federal government had posted. The two East Chicago policemen each received $2,500. But a federal judge ordered her deported, and she died in 1947 in the little Romanian town of Timisoara.

FIRE COMPANY ELECTS OFFICERS

Melvin Eisenhart was elected president of the Liberty Fire Co. No. 1 of East Berlin at a meeting of the organization Tuesday evening at the fire hall in East Berlin.

Other officers named were: Kurvin Krout, vice president; A.D. Himes, secretary; Lawrence Allard, assistant secretary; Richard Wise, treasurer; David Krout, trustee for three years; Calvin Lerew, chief; Kurvin Krout, assistant chief; Rev. Robert Rezash, chaplain.

President Eisenhart reported that membership now consists of 235 beneficial members and 20 honorary members. 1957 dues are now payable, he said. The president also urged all members to attend as many of the meetings, held the second Tuesday of each month, as possible.

He expressed the appreciation of the fire company to the Ladies Auxiliary for a recent donation of $2,000. That amount applied to the debt on the company's $39,000 building reduces the debt still to $2,600, he said.

"FOLLOWING RULES"

To reach a measure of success . . . it takes a lot of work . . . for prizes seldom come to those . . . who think it wise to shirk . . . there are many rules to follow . . . each designed to do us good . . . principles of common sense . . . so easily understood . . . which is best is hard to fathom . . . for each holds a wealth of truth . . . we earn these righteous formulas . . . from very early youth . . . if we follow what they teach us . . . luck is bound to come our way . . . if perchance we should ignore them . . . we are sure to go astray . . . each was born through trial and error . . . bits of heartache, bitter tears . . . truly representing . . . the experience of years . . . are rules made just to be broken . . . those who think so are but fools . . . because true and lasting glory . . . only comes by following rules.

LEGISLATIVE

health act. The act provides for establishment of county boards of health or joint county boards of health where the Department of Health so approves. If desired, Adams County could join with Perry and Cumberland to establish a joint health department. So far, only four counties, Erie, Butler, Bucks and Allegheny, have taken advantage of the act. The voters have turned down the proposal in Northampton and Lehigh Counties. The reluctance of county commissioners to proceed on this matter may be partly due to the fact that it would, of course, mean raising taxes. If you propose to back such a plan for you town county certainly a survey should be made by competent persons to determine the need in your particular county before agitating for its establishment.

Mrs. Franklin R. Bigham presided. Mrs. Richard A. Brown, membership chairman, reported membership is 135. Membership in the organization is restricted to graduates of colleges accredited by the AAUW. Eligible persons are asked to contact Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. S. M. Raffensperger, chairman of the nominating committee, presented these nominations for officers to be filled at the next meeting: First vice president, Mrs. G. Donald Wickerham; second vice president, Mrs. Robert Barnes; secretary, Mrs. John Bream of Cashtown; member-at-large, Mrs. Howard C. Long. Miss N. Louise Ramer was named chairman of the Senatorial Scholarship Committee.

Decorators For Gettysburg GOP Rally Also Make Dance Settings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Experience shows you barely see the fancy trimmings for the people, but local decorators have donned their tallest thinking-caps to dream up something super-duper to glamorize settings for the 1957 inaugural ball.

The firm of Theo. J. Christensen, Inc., billed the inaugural committee some $70,000 in 1953 for sprucing up the D. C. National Guard Armory and the Georgetown University gymnasium where more than 1,000 milled about trying to see the celebrities and tried in vain to dance.

Old hands at providing fancy back drops for anything from Christmas office parties and new car showings to conventions and parties of local hostesses who want to make a splash and have the money to do it, the firm says it's non-partisan when it comes to decorating political clambakes.

Work For Both Parties
"We work for both parties and charge the same rate for one as we do for another," John R. McDonald, junior partner in charge of the firm's production, said. "We did the Truman inaugural ball, using mostly red, white and blue. We had no particular theme for the '63 balls, but the decorations were strictly rich and very elaborate, with gold eagles. Bruno Maine, New York stage artist, did the designing."

For conventions, industry showings and such, cotton bunting is frequently used, but when it's a presidential inaugural ball, rich bengalines, velours, satins and gold fringe are lavished about. "We have only one president every four years," explains McDonald, "and we don't want to use anything commonplace."

The firm provided the decorations for a Republican rally at the Gettysburg presidential farm and a Democratic rally for Stevenson at Walnut Hills, Va.

mony. The plaintiff stated that just before turning the defendant had slowed to a virtual stop, yet at that slow speed the defendant was able to traverse the plaintiff's side of the highway and enter a driveway without colliding with the oncoming truck which was traveling at a speed of 30 to 35 miles per hour.

"His testimony was likewise contradicted by the existence of skid marks on the road and berm for 101 feet before the impact. The plaintiff stated that he had applied his brakes when the defendant pulled across the highway in front of him. The skid marks of 101 feet would indicate that he was much more than a length and a half away when he applied his brakes.

Jury Justified

"The plaintiff gave his speed at 40 to 45 miles per hour when he first saw the defendant. . . . The plaintiff testified that his truck bore an 'S' type license. Under the vehicle code the speed limit for a vehicle with an 'S' type license is 40 miles per hour. Even though the plaintiff indicated that he slowed to a speed within legal limits, the jury was warranted in weighing that evidence against skid marks of 101 feet and the rolling over several times of the truck before finally coming to rest on top of the defendant's car."

Attorneys Samuel M. Raffensperger and Franklin R. Bigham represented Wagner in the trial and Attorneys Donald G. Oyler and Charles W. Wolf represented Gastley.

William I. Shields Becomes Candidate

William I. Shields, N. Washington St., Adams County Republican chairman, announced today he will seek the party nomination for Adams County treasurer at the spring primary. He is the first in either party to announce for the office.

Shields, who served as county treasurer from 1933 to 1937, later was employed with the state Department of Health as sanitarian in this county. Last year he was elected GOP county chairman.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Wrangling Marks Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee, in a row with a balky witness and his lawyer, heard charges today of "hoodlum" influence and the "stealing" of funds in New York City labor unions.

The name of John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardia, a gangster indicted in connection with the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel, popped up quickly in the public hearing.

Wrangling started shortly after Robert F. Kennedy, subcommittee counsel, was called as a witness to trace the history of AFL-CIO Teamsters Union Local 384. Kennedy said he agreed with Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) that the local was established in "a manipulation to get gain and profit for individual officers of the union," as McClellan had phrased it.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times
TWENTY YEARS AGO

St. James Choir Given Banquet: About 60 persons attended a banquet tendered members of the choir of St. James Lutheran church Friday evening in the social rooms of the church. The program for the affair was arranged by a committee from the church council that included Norman W. Storick, R. A. Weaver and Carl Martz. Wives of the committee members and Mrs. M. U. Bream assisted with the decorations and favors.

Fred G. Troxell, a member of the church council, spoke on behalf of that body and expressed the appreciation of the church officials for the services of the choir.

To Put "Gas" Station On Tabernacle Corner: Ivan D. Shanbrook, Hanover street, has purchased the tabernacle property, corner of Hanover and Fourth streets, from the First National Bank. Mr. Shanbrook plans to remove a part of the present structure and make use of a portion of it in the construction of a service station on that corner.

Growers Launch Drive To Secure Tax-Free Gasoline For Tractor Engine Use: Adams county fruit growers at their January meeting Thursday evening at Biglerville launched a united effort to secure the passage of a bill in the state legislature providing for tax-free gasoline for use in tractors, stationary engines or other power units that do not use the highways of the state.

To Buy A New Fire Engine: At a meeting of the Biglerville fire company Thursday evening it was decided to purchase a new fire engine and pumper and a committee was appointed to serve as the purchasing body.

The committee consists of Roy Diehl, Emory Funt, Joe Boyer, M. A. Shue, John Deardorff, Charles Baker, Rowe Martin and H. C. Bucher. E. Dale Heiges, president of the company, is also serving on the committee.

S. L. Baltzley Buys 444-Acre Martin Farm: S. Luther Baltzley, Gettysburg, R. D., has purchased the former Senator Martin farm above "The Narrows" in Menallen township from Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Myers. The farm contains 444 acres including about 20 acres of fruit, 150 for farm land with the remaining acreage in timber.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers and a son-in-law and daughter of the late state senator, Mr. Baltzley is president of the board of Adams County commissioners.

F. D. R. Parties Scheduled In 2 Hotels Jan. 29: Announcement was made today by Fred G. Pfeffer, general chairman of the President's birthday ball committee, of the personnel of subcommittees to help with arrangements for the annual celebration.

At the same time Mr. Pfeffer announced that the special committee on arrangements has decided that two parties shall be held here this year as was done in 1936. Cards and dancing will be in progress on the evening of Friday, January 29 at both the Hotel Gettysburg and the Eagle Hotel.

The purpose of the birthday ball for the President is to create, through the direct help of the citizens of the country, funds with which to help victims of infantile paralysis and support research efforts to wipe out the disease itself.

$985 County Share In Red Cross Roll Call: Final figures on the 1936 annual Red Cross roll call, announced today by Miss Margaret McMillan, show that while the total is about $400 above that collected in 1935 it remains about $300 short of the $2,000 goal set for the county when the drive was launched in November. The total amount collected in the 1936 drive is given at $1,705.42. Of the total collected $720.16 must be sent to national headquarters at Washington D. C.

Today's Talk

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF
If you do not believe in yourself, you may well come to the conclusion that others are apt not to believe in you. Confidence begets confidence. Example goes a long way. Note how attentive is every student desirous of knowledge. The more you learn and absorb the more do the cells of the mind grow flexible and ready. Believe in yourself. That is the first requisite for a job, with you as the chooser. Believe in yourself and your job and the boss will smooth your way to the top places with a will. We inherited all the marvelous gifts that are ours that we might constantly attempt soaring on our own. Confidence is our stock in trade.

People of little faith attempt only the little things. These are times when the call is for high courage and the mastering of big things. And until we have measured out of the belief and faith that are within us, we can only imagine the glory that awaits us beyond. The path to this glory may be rough and confusing at times, but like a good pilgrim keep your eyes looking far ahead. Believe in yourself.

There may be times when you may be the only one with belief in yourself. It was Emerson who once said that "the strongest man on earth is the one who stands most alone." Well, there are many times when this is literally true. But this should not concern us. Others have stood alone and have been later acclaimed from the housetops!

We are actual owners of a good part of this remarkable world! But that ownership is predicted by the statement that we must have an appreciation for all the beauty and miracles that lie all about us. In the Bible story about the Talents you will recall that those weren't used were taken away! Believe in yourself until it hurts!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Keep Searching!"

BROKEN RESOLUTIONS

No man a better set has made.
Perfection in each phrase was held
And would be had they been obeyed.
The words were all correctly spelled.
They pointed out the higher way.
They told the duties of a friend.
No man had ever gone astray
Had he preserved them to the end.

In simple language they were penned.
Each comma in its proper place.
On them the toiler could depend:
Of weakness they had not a trace.
The ignorant would wiser be.
The weak would grow into the strong.
They clearly showed for all to see
The difference 'twixt right and wrong.

They would have lasted life's long length.
Had I to keep them truly tried.
It seems I must have lacked the strength
Or, tempted sorely, stepped aside.
But careless of such things am I.
As those who know me well recall.
In broken ruins now they lie—
Good resolutions, one and all.

Famed Explorer Dies Of Injuries: Los Angeles, Jan. 13 (AP) — A world famous explorer, Martin Johnson, who year after year braved the dangers of wild Africa, came to his death in a routine homeland air trip not long after he remarked that "America probably is the most dangerous place in the world."

He died in a hospital today, the second fatality among 13 passengers and crew of Salt Lake City-Los Angeles Western Air transport which pancaked on snow clad foothills within 15 miles of its destination. Mrs. Johnson, his inseparable companion in exploration, was seriously injured in the accident.

PLANTING OF NUT TREES ON IKE'S FARM IS TOLD AT SHOW

HARRISBURG — When President and Mrs. Eisenhower become simply "Ike" and "Mamie" to their Gettysburg neighbors, they will have prospects of reaping bountiful harvests of nut meats from trees planted on their farm as gifts from the Pennsylvania and the Northern Nut Growers' Association.

The "how" of this story was told to members of the Pennsylvania Nut Growers' Association at the State Farm Show here. The speaker was William S. Weaver of Macungie, vice president of the Pennsylvania Nut Growers' Association. He related his experience in working with Russell Yohe, a neighbor, in planting the trees on the Eisenhower farm in Adams County. He said gift trees were shipped in also from the West Coast, the East Coast, the Midwest, and from the National Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Md.

"We set out some trees last April 30," Weaver reported. "They are located a short distance west of the President's home. H. M. Oesterling, Marysville, Perry County, the association secretary, is arranging for us to return to the farm to check up on the trees and to meet the President," he added.

He said that more trees were planted in another spot the next day.

Total plantings include six Persian walnuts, three black walnuts, two hickory, two dwarf chestnuts, two hickory trees, one pecan, over 50 filbert seedlings, and over 100 Chinese chestnut seedlings. Numerous small fruits such as persimmons, blueberries, grapes, raspberries and blackberries were also planted.

11C — Doris Bollinger.

12AV — Shirley Warehime, Doris Stonesifer, Norma Bloom, Edith Baumgardner, Connie Arvin, Lamar Hiltbrick, Richard Null and Richard Stonesifer.

12CC — Nora Abrecht, Doris Weaver, Shirley Wantz, Bernard Koontz and Donald Unger.

AIRCRAFT FIRM MERGER DELAYED

MORTON, Pa. — Vertol Aircraft Corp. announced yesterday it had held concurrent board meetings with Northrup Aircraft, Inc., of Hawthorne, Calif., to consider signing of a Northrup-Vertol merger agreement.

A statement issued by Vertol in the names of President Don Berlin and Northrup President Whitely C. Collins, said that because necessary documents for the signing were not completed, it had been postponed until a future, undetermined date.

The two firms began merger talks last October. Berlin said in December Northrup had offered to exchange two shares of its stock for one of Vertol's.

Before any agreement can be signed, it must have approval of both boards of directors and then be submitted to the shareholders for their approval.

Vertol at present is engaged solely in the manufacture of helicopters. Northrup's manufacturing activities are more varied. Berlin has said it would be to Vertol's advantage to merge. He said a merger would give Vertol additional manpower for its research projects and strengthen the company's financial position.

The proposed administrative set-up of the merged company has not been disclosed.

RURAL CHURCH MAY BE ON WAY OUT IN AMERICA

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. — The small rural church, like the little red school house, may be on the way out.

Two Methodist leaders reported to their church's Board of Missions here yesterday that urban and suburban growth means fewer rural church goers and country housing projects forces the building of many new and large churches in city and suburban sections, said Robert A. McKibben and Dr. Glenn F. Sanford.

500 A Year
Asserting that 500 church members were needed to support a pastor and his family under American economic conditions, the two said it was evident "the one-church of 'station' parish is not feasible in much of rural and village America."

While the Methodist church will erect 1,500 new churches in the next three years, they said, about 1,300 small churches, mostly in rural areas, have been abandoned.

MAN BLAMES DOG FOR BROKEN LEG

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Albert T. Lindenfelser, 54, told police he was going from house to house distributing handbills when a dog ran at him and latched on to his pants. He tried to shake the dog loose, nearly lost his pants in the process and then fell to the ground as the dog scampered away. Now he's in a hospital with a broken ankle.

Dr. Brumbaugh said the number of churches in Korea had nearly doubled since 1952, and membership had climbed from 60,000 to more than 150,000.

Other overseas mission representatives told the board that the Methodist Church now has 1,355,000 members in 43 countries of Asia, Africa, South America and Europe. The largest group of 400,000 is in India and Pakistan, Asia. The report was made by the

Junior High Home Friday Against Washington Twp.; Blue Raiders To Host GHS

Gettysburg Junior High entertains the Washington Township cagers Friday evening on the local floor as the visiting Bulldogs inaugurate their South Penn League play.

Gettysburg is 1-1 in league action. The Braves' reserves, who lead the jayvee division with a 2-0 record, meet the Bulldogs scrubs in the preliminary at 6:30.

Chambersburg plays at Shippensburg in another league game.

George Forney's Gettysburg High lads are likely to find Middletown in a vengeful mood when they meet the Blue Raiders in a South Penn contest Friday night at Middletown. The raiders suffered a surprising 62-47 setback at Mechanicsburg Tuesday and will be out to rebound from that bitter setback.

Key Game At Hanover

The top South Penn game of the evening will be the Carlisle-Hanover game on the latter court. A victory for either team in that game would be a big stride toward the first half title.

Mechanicsburg, tied with Carlisle for the lead, plays at Hershey while Chambersburg entertains Shippensburg.

Boiling Springs, unbeaten Adams County League leader, should win 1 to 15 fifth straight against invading New Oxford. Biglerville is favored to win at Fairfield, while the York Springs-East Berlin game at York Springs and the Big Spring-Littles-town affair on the Littlestown floor rate as toss-ups. Girls' game will precede the boys' tilt at Littlestown and Fairfield.

Delone At Westminster

Delone travels to Westminster Friday evening while the Squirrels play at York Springs in an afternoon game at 3:30.

Tonight Biglerville's unbeaten wrestlers meet Big Spring in a Section 2 affair at Newville.

Other sectional matches tonight include Central Dauphin at Shippensburg, Cumberland Valley at Susquehanna, Carlisle at Boiling Springs.

COLD WEATHER CONTINUES IN MANY SECTIONS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures moderated in some sections of the ice-chilled northern Midwest today but snow and blustery winds made a fresh entry and kept wintry weather much in the spotlight.

Meanwhile no general relief from the season's longest cold snap across the eastern half of the nation appeared imminent.

The so-called warming trend in parts of the north central area was a little on the freakish side, climatically. Arctic air normally flows into the country from Canada. But during the night much warmer air spread across the border. It was expected to move slowly eastward into the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley today.

Cold Wave Hits Texas

Readings in the north and central plains eastward to the Mississippi River, at subzero levels for several days, moderated considerably. However, they were still below freezing, but about 30 degrees higher in Montana and North Dakota than 24 hours earlier.

But to the east and south of the warming belt, generally colder weather prevailed. Subzero cold was reported in areas bounded by the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, western New York and Pennsylvania.

The cold air dipped deep into Texas with near freezing marks reported in some southern areas. Although warmer, the Northern Plains were hit by snow and gusty winds. Wind gusts of more than 50 m.p.h. swept some areas. The snow spread eastward and was expected to reach through the Great Lakes region and mid-Mississippi Valley and extend across the Ohio Valley and Appalachians during the day. It may advance into the middle and north Atlantic states by tonight.

Snow diminished in most of New England and other sections of the East after falls ranging mostly from 2 to 4 inches yesterday.

WIN JR. HIGH GAMES

Shippensburg and Waynesboro Junior High Schools made up their postponed South Penn Basketball League games Wednesday evening when the Shippensburg varsity topped the home team 57-23 and the reserves also won 31-18.

Vic Janowicz set a Big Ten football record for Ohio State in 1950 when he kicked 10 extra points in 11 efforts.

Upset By Cadilli Confuses Picture

BOSTON (AP)—Miguel Berrios' upset loss to Gil Cadilli added further confusion today to boxing's unsettled featherweight division.

Cadilli beat Berrios, the second-rated feather contender, on a split decision in a nationally televised (ABC) 10-round bout last night at Mechanics Building.

The verdict came only a few hours after the National Boxing Assn. stripped Sandy Saddler of the title for not defending his championship within a specified time.

Cadilli, who is an unranked club fighter from San Francisco, won on the identical 99-95 point-system voting of Referee Eddie Bradley and Judge Johnny Savko. Judge Joe Santapio voted for Berrios, 98-95.

FROSH WALLOP STEVENS TRADE FOR 4TH WIN

Jack Ridinger's Gettysburg College freshmen won their third straight basketball victory here Wednesday evening by crushing Stevens Trade of Lancaster 90-70 to bring their season mark to 4-3.

The scrappy Bulls penetrated the Traders' zone defense at will throughout the first half and showed some fine outside shooting. At the half the yearlings were on top 50-33.

Stevens Trade began to find the range in the second half and, with Coach Ridinger experimenting with several combinations, managed to stay on even terms.

Dick Davies and Barry Gwinn led the Bulls attack with 24 and 22 points, respectively. Top man for the evening was George of Stevens Trade who connected for 30.

The yearling next met the strong St. Francis Prep outfit at Spring Grove Saturday.

Cold Wave To Stay Over Weekend

Pennsylvania shivered today in temperatures zero and below with a prospect the cold wave would continue into the weekend.

More snow also was forecast for the day, starting on the western slopes of the mountains and spreading eastward across the state tonight.

Numerous temperature records were broke by the tumbling mercury.

An official 22 degrees below zero was reported at Kane, the coldest spot in the state.

Pittsburgh's 6 degrees below zero tumbled a record of 3 below in 1916 for the date. Harrisburg had 4 above, breaking the record of 6 above in 1922.

The Weather Bureau expected temperatures to rise during the day, into the 20's in some areas, but said they would drop again tonight.

Arbitrator Rules Against Equity

NEW YORK (AP)—An arbitrator has ruled that Rex Harrison may be replaced by an Irish actor in Broadway's smash hit "My Fair Lady."

The dispute threatened to shutter the show when the producers announced last week that Edward Mulhare would fill in for Harrison when the star of the musical begins a four-week vacation Feb. 4.

Actors Equity had protested the importation of a foreign actor. Equity claimed any trained American actor could play the part just as well.

Both sides accepted Theodore W. Kheel as arbitrator. Kheel ruled in favor of Mulhare and his decision was accepted as binding by Equity.

DELONE SNAPS LOSING SKEIN ON LATE RALLY

CENTRAL PENN CATHOLIC LEAGUE	W.	L.	Pct.
York	3	0	1.000
Harrisburg	2	0	1.000
Lancaster	1	1	.500
Lebanon	1	2	.333

The Delone Squires broke a four-game losing streak by scoring nine points in the last two minutes of play to edge the Indians of St. Edwards from Shamokin 71-64 on the McSherrystown court Wednesday night. The win was the first victory for the Squires in the Central Penn Catholic League after they had dropped their initial three games.

Trailing 54-48 going into the final quarter of play, Delone started to fire up for a rough finish but not until the Indians had built up a 10-point lead on Bill Garrigan's long one-handed push shot and Sam Spears' pair of charity tosses.

Chad Weaver then looped a corner shot only to be matched by Spears' one-handed jump. Ed Roth added two free throws and Weaver followed with a lay-up on the fast break. Tom Buggy and Weaver duplicated two-pointers while Poist and Garrigan hit on jump shots from the side. Roth then tossed in a push shot from the corner and two foul tosses to narrow Shamokin's lead to 64-62 at 1:45 minutes remaining. Staub added a free throw as Weaver followed with two one-pointers from the foul line to give Delone a 65-64 lead with 40 seconds remaining. Jim Strazella then tossed in what proved to be the winning points on a pair of foul shots followed by Staub's two-handed push and two charity shots. Garrigan landed a desperation push shot from the foul circle as the buzzer sounded.

Visitors Take Lead

St. Edwards got off to a quick 20-12 lead at the end of the first quarter via Bill Garrigan's four field goals. Staub and Roth combined to tally 10 of the Squires' 12 points.

Led by the fine defensive and offensive playing of Staub and Weaver, the Squires were able to match their opponents point for point in the second frame but this was not enough to close the gap as Shamokin paced the way at the end of the first half of play 40-32.

Foul shooting and personal fouls played an important factor in the second half as the Indians fell on the short end of the fouls. Delone looped six out of 12 charity tosses in the third stanza while Shamokin lost three key men on personal fouls.

Ed Roth, speedy guard, and Phil Staub, 6-4 center, paced the Squires to victory by scoring 20 points each in six field goals and eight free tosses. Bill Garrigan, sharp shooting Indian guard, topped all scorers with 22 points.

Delone Girls Win

In the preliminary contest the Delone girls copied their fourth win in eleven outings by completely outclassing the York Catholic girls 76-16. Delone took a 19-3 first period lead and was able to win with ease. Captain Ann Wiernman was high with 27 points followed by teammate Mary Small with 25. Loretta Freed paced the York girls with 9.

Coach John Russ' lads will travel to Westminster on Friday with an engagement with the Owls. The girls play at York Springs Friday at 3:30 p.m.

SELECT NAMES FOR ROYAL BABY

MONTE CARLO (AP)—If it's a boy, Prince Rainier and Princess Grace are going to name him Greigore. A girl will be called Caroline. Prince Rainier told a news conference today.

The other names of the prince will be Georges Pierre Richard. The other names for a girl will be Louise Marguerite.

The names are all French and traditional in Monaco's reigning family, the Grimaldis. No names were chosen to honor Grace's Irish-extraction family, the Kellys of Philadelphia.

The baby is expected in the next few days.

The prince said the delivery would take place inside the palace and not at the local hospital. The expectant father said the chief doctor, Paris gynecologist Emile Herve, had decided this was "completely possible."

"I was born myself in the palace as many other members of my family were," Rainier added.

The prince said that whatever the American law might be, he considered his first child would be "uniquely Monacan" and not an American citizen.

He announced the godparents would be his cousin Prince George Festetics, a 17-year-old Hungarian now living in Vienna, and 12-year-old Margaret Davis, a daughter of Princess Grace's elder sister.

SAWCHUK IS SUSPENDED FOR QUITTING TEAM

BOSTON (AP)—Rookie Norm Defelice took over as the Boston Bruins' regular goalie today with three-time Vezina trophy winner Terry Sawchuk suspended for quitting the National Hockey League club and pulling a disappearing act.

The 23-year-old Defelice, who started out the 1956-57 season as a spare goalie for Hershey in the American Hockey League, will be in the net for tonight's game against the Detroit Red Wings at the Boston Garden.

Sawchuk was suspended by the Bruins yesterday less than 24 hours after he told club officials he was quitting hockey. The suspension could result in a lifetime ban against Sawchuk, one of the NHL's top-paid players.

Had Blood Disease

"The suspension stands unless we find that Terry is still a sick man," Coach Milt Schmidt said. "If he is, then I'll be the first to go to his aid, and when he is completely well the club will welcome him with open arms."

The 27-year-old Sawchuk informed Schmidt of his sudden

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reds have troubles too. This sometimes gets lost sight of in this country's concern about the Russians and their tricks. One of their troubles is emotionalism.

An example of it is in informed reports from Moscow that Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev wants to revive the Cominform which he and his friends killed last April. It was a Red information bureau created to spread world communism.

The emotionalism can work, and to some extent has worked, for the benefit of the West. But it is the most dangerous, because it is the most unpredictable element in the Russian leadership.

Blockade Failed
Stalin could be predicted pretty well: not his precise moves but his general strategy. He was a Bolshevik but he was basically conservative; he wanted to expand but cautiously.

He tried to blockade Berlin in 1948-49 to see how much he could get away with in the West. It did not cost him anything. Defeated there by this country's airlift, he tried his luck in the East by jettisoning the Korean War start.

There is no reason to believe he would not have started a general war—but only if he felt sure of winning. And one thing he always did—with two exceptions—was to exact rigid discipline from Communist parties everywhere.

But because of these exceptions—Yugoslavia and Red China—he left his political heirs with a tattered legacy. With the defiance by Yugoslavia's Tito in 1948 and the emergence of the Chinese Reds as masters of the China mainland in 1949 Stalin lost his absolute control of world communism.

It was last year that Khrushchev and his friends sought to make the best of a bad situation in the Communist world by denouncing Stalin and telling Communists elsewhere they could assert some independence.

What was emotional about this was the way it was done. There had been no real preparation for it. Khrushchev practically blurted out the shift in tactics at the party Congress in Moscow last year.

It took Communists everywhere by surprise. It caused factional splits in Red parties outside Russia and, with the loosening of the controls, led to bloody revolt in Hungary and the less bloody attempt by the Poles to get more independence.

Almost Unbelievable
What happened this week in the satellites was almost unbelievable.

Attend Scabbard And Blade Dinner Meeting At Hotel

General Willard S. Paul, president of Gettysburg College, spoke on the importance of the ROTC program at a dinner meeting of the Scabbard and Blade national military society, E Company, 3rd Regiment, Wednesday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg. He discussed the qualities of leadership which are required of individuals whether they are on active duty or seek their field of endeavor in civilian industry.

J. E. Clark, commanding officer of E Company, served as master of ceremonies. General Paul was introduced by Lt. Col. Eben R. Jones professor of military science and tactics at the college.

Members of the ROTC staff and Chaplain Korte were guests of the military society at the dinner.

Standing, members of the society: J. P. Matthews, J. K. Reese, L. L. Lehman, R. H. Martin, R. T. For, H. J. Meunier, C. W. Beachem, R. E. Sickle, J. E. Clark, R. W. Schutte, R. S. Goldner, T. O. and certainly would have been unnecessary, in Stalin's days. This was the visit of Chou En-lai, the Red Chinese premier, to Poland to persuade the Poles to stick with Moscow.

Hungary, Poland, the disputes and dismay of Communist parties outside the Iron Curtain were all gains for the West.

Khrushchev's party Congress opens again next month. He and his colleagues will have to make some explanations for their disasters of 1956 and, no doubt, will have to lay down a new line to recoup their losses.

The emotionalism of Khrushchev and his friends is not pretty to think about if Russia suffers new reverses which make them think they have to try something drastic to survive.

YES, WE DELIVER

LEADER WILL DENOUNCE TAX BUT ACCEPT IT

HARRISBURG (P)—Gov. Leader was reported today reconciled to keeping the sales tax as part of the commonwealth's tax structure but was drafting a budget message denouncing the levy.

Administration sources, who declined quotation by name, said the budget for the two-year fiscal period starting June 1 will run beyond two billion dollars—an all time high.

The chief executive, confronted by a Legislature under full Republican control, is still studying what position to take on a report by his 12-man tax policy advisory committee.

The bipartisan committee proposed that the budget be balanced in the next biennium by a 240 million dollar tax program retaining the sales tax at 3 per cent.

Has Alternate

The alternatives before the governor are:

1. Tell the Republican lawmakers that the responsibility of raising taxes is primarily theirs and let them shift for themselves.
2. Back the tax study report to indicate that he, at least, was ready to maintain a bipartisan approach to taxes.
3. Offer the tax report as a starting point to balance the budget, making plain he had reservations about such points as imposing the sales tax on clothing and bringing back the soft drinks impost.

Some Democratic leaders are known to be advising Leader to adopt the first alternative as politically expedient. The second is being pressed on him by some members of the tax study committee.

But there was speculation that the governor may adopt the third alternative with possible variations.

Up To Committee

In any event, it will be up to the House Ways and Means Committee, headed by Chairman Wayne M. Breisch (R-Schuylkill), to draft its own tax bills.

The governor's budget experts have sharply trimmed departmental requests for appropriations but they are expected to run as high as 100 million dollars beyond 1955-57 spending.

The 100 millions includes more money for the mental health program, industrial development aid to local communities, increased public assistance and sharply increased occupational disease benefits.

Sales tax collections are way below the 320 million dollar estimate for the current biennium and the governor is facing a 75 million dollar deficit as of next May 31.

Underlining the belief the governor is ready to live with the Republican-sponsored sales tax is the fact that he recently hired consultants to look into means of administering it more efficiently.

Hidden Dough Is Found In Flour

PONCA CITY, Okla. (P)—A Ponca City housewife scraped the bottom of the flour canister to get enough for a recipe and found a dollar bill.

The next day, she called the grocer, all excited about the flour company putting dollar bills in the flour sacks, and she ordered some more of the same brand.

That night, she told the family about the discovery and the 12-year-old son, cried: "Oh, Mommy, that's where I hid my money."

SAFE SLIDING

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (P)—Band-leader Russ Morgan says he's working on an invention—a slide trombone that will move sideways instead of forward. He claims this would save the shoulder strain for short-armed trombonists. In addition, he says it would eliminate danger to the musicians who march in front of trombonists in parades.

HOUSE GROUP TO WHITTLE IKE'S BUDGET

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (P)—The House Appropriations Committee set out today to try to whittle down President Eisenhower's request to spend $71,807,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

One day after receiving Eisenhower's budget message, subcommittees arranged to begin scanning behind closed doors the fiscal needs of the Interior, Post Office and Treasury departments.

Members hope to chop substantial sums from the $73,300,000,000 in requests for new appropriations, some of which would carry over to later years.

Some Complaining

Some Democrats and some Republicans complained about the size of the budget for the year starting next July 1, referring to it as inflationary.

And Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey cautioned that "we will have a depression that will make your hair curl" unless the government cuts down on its spending. He added that he probably would quit his job if, in the event of a depression, the Eisenhower administration tries to fight it with methods involving deficit spending.

He said he wasn't criticizing the administration for the size of the budget. But he said the rising trend of federal budgets "should promptly be stopped."

The size of the budget, a record for a peace year and the fifth highest in the nation's history, spurred congressional demands for sharp cuts in appropriations, on which spending is based.

The President forecast a year-end surplus of $1,800,000,000 which he said would be applied toward reduction of the 272-billion-dollar national debt, now costing more than seven billions annually in interest charges.

Some members are known to feel that if Congress could cut the planned spending total several billion more, there might be enough of a surplus to provide tax relief in 1958, a congressional election year.

No sooner had Eisenhower's budget message been read than a partisan argument broke out on the House floor.

Arguments Begin

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee called the budget "inflationary."

And he complained that "there is no retrenchment, no economy."

Up jumped Rep. Halleck of Indiana, the assistant House Republican leader, to say that Cannon was showing a "new-found solicitude" about the effects of inflation on the American people. Halleck said that in past years Cannon was one of those "feeding those fires of inflation rather than trying to put them out."

In an interview today, Rep. Tabor of New York, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, said the budget "can and will" be cut by Congress.

"There is a tremendous lot of waste, especially in the Defense Department," Tabor said.

Rep. Reed of New York, top Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he found the budget "needlessly high."

News Of Emmitsburg

Jack Sullivan Nears 2,000 Points; Seeks Perfection In Drills Against Coach

On the average of three times a week Jack Sullivan, skipper of the Mount St. Mary's basketball team, three-time Mason-Dixon champs, is the scourge of area courts. Off to his best start in four years, the 6-4 Mountaineer ace has already broken both the Quantico record with 116 points in three games, set the tourney's new individual game high with 43 against Belmont Abbey, and cracked the Mason-Dixon Conference individual high by pouring 51 points through the hoop against Washington College. At the moment with 1,941 points over his career, Sullivan is just a shade away from the charmed 2,000-point circle.

A dogged perfectionist, Sully lays away his basketball togs only about once a week. Three other nights he sets a blistering pace in scheduled games. The other three nights each week are the ones which chagrin the tow-headed Mountie ace. For those are the three nights when more often than not he finds himself completely shackled by the cleverest defensive player he meets all season long. In practice session after practice session Sullivan who can hit with a variety of shots — hooks, jumps, sets and drives — is handcuffed by his 28-year-old mentor Jim Phelan, who, in his palmy playing days with Ken Leffler's great LaSalle teams, was dubbed the "Hawk" because of his uncanny defensive ability.

A good scorer in his LaSalle and Quantico days, Phelan's forte was defense. Night after night through his cage career Phelan's job was to police the best shooters in the nation. So effective was the Mountie headman that he was named to the All-Philadelphia team in each of his varsity years, was selected most valuable player in the Marine tourney, picked up a crateful of trophies for his outstanding play, and was the only player singled out by Loeffler for defense in his book on basketball.

Makes Games Easy

Now Jack Sullivan plays head-to-head with Phelan in each practice session and while he spends long hours in frustration, first at being manhandled, outguessed and outmaneuvered and then, to add insult to injury, being outscored, Sully is the first to sing Phelan's praises. "After playing against the coach," he says, "game time is a picnic. There isn't anything anyone can do to me on the floor that Mr. Phelan hasn't thrown at me a dozen times a night. I'm sure glad I don't have to look at him at tap-off time."

Sullivan attributes most of his success this year to Phelan's dogging night after night. "I've been lucky this year. I've piled up a lot of points even though my shots haven't been dropping the way they did last year. I think most of it is due to the fact that I have to work harder to get a bucket against the coach than at any other time. I hardly ever get discouraged during a game when the basket seems to have a lid on it because generally the night before Coach Phelan has horse-collared me."

The record sheet bears out the Mountaineer star. While his prolific gathering is higher than ever, his shooting effectiveness has tailed off slightly from a three-year 51 per cent mark from the floor to about 45 per cent. Phelan attributes this to the fact that the Mountie scoring has been almost completely in the hands of Sullivan and Sheing. "The opposition feels that if it can keep Sully to a fairly respectable figure it can beat us," he says, "so they drop off other men to double team him. So far only Hampden-Sydney has dumped us that way in the league, but we'll have trouble from the others now. This year Sully has to work for every point and the fact that he's hit so phenomenally is a real tribute to his heart and talent. They don't make much better shooters than my boy. If we ever get squared away to the point where Williams and Bohlinger start scoring, Sullivan's going to have a field day. Basketball is still a team game and all five men have to shoulder the load."

Sullivan's Idea On Drills

Phelan chuckles when you quiz him about his handling of the Mountaineer sharpshooter. "Working head-to-head was Sully's idea. He wants to learn and improve all the time. Last year we did a bit of it and this year when we came up short-handed due to illness and one thing or another I had to haul out a suit. Of course we don't have whistle tooters to worry about and occasionally I get a hand tangled in Sully's trunks or nudge him a little when he shoots because I'm not as agile as I used to be. But it's a real good session most of the time. Sully gets better and more determined and I lose a little weight. But in a game Sully'd run me ragged, too. After all I couldn't hold him and I certainly couldn't run with him any more."

Phelan's stress on defense is paying off for the Mounties. After a rough start against some of Western Pennsylvania's toughest, the Mountaineers have been stingy with points and have sneaked by games they should have lost with their feeble team shooting.

Team Has Poor Starts

Phelan thinks an aggressive defense won both at Loyola and against Washington when the Mountaineer crew had the Greyhounds and Shomens stretching on their shots. "Loyola shoots better than they did against us," he says, "but Joe Sullivan had Dodd straining and most of the others did the same thing to McGuire, Leyh and the rest." Against Washington we got more of the same. Brown and Selvid earned everything they made. If the boys will just stay hepped about defense we'll win a lot of games. Even if our shooting tails off we'll be tough if the other team can't score. Trouble with us is that it takes us a half to get moving. The boys seem to daydream in the beginning or maybe they're thinking about last year's clippings. At any rate we haven't played a decent first half all year. At Hampden-Sydney we got 14 rebounds in the first half and 49 in the second. We were lucky they didn't chase us right out of Virginia."

Coach Phelan and Sullivan face a rocky road to their 4th Mason-Dixon title. Neither has ever been a loser at the Mount, but the team still has to face the cream of the conference and nobody knows better than they do that if they falter a lot of clubs could slip past them. Loyola is still the big hurdle, but Baltimore, American and the others are all tough. "The trouble is," says Phelan, "everyone is after us. But I'd rather have it that way than be chasing them. Now if we only get good defense, and Sully and Sheing keep shellacking the hoop..."

Tonight the Mount plays at Baltimore.

HUMAN SIDE OF DROUGHT FORMS VAST PROBLEM

By ROBERT E. FORD

DALLAS (AP) — President Eisenhower saw crippling damage on his 14-hour, ground-level inspection of Texas drought land this week. What he couldn't see in full is the human side of the drought, and that adds up to a national problem.

For instance: he couldn't see farmers borrowing money for tractor fuel to keep their land from blowing away, once-proud farmers accepting food relief packages for their families, or the procession of young men going broke and leaving their farms for city jobs.

Nor could he, by the limitations of time and distance, gain an insight into the privation brought in by the 750-million-dollar drought loss suffered last year by Texas farmers alone.

State Agriculture Commissioner John White said today that the 750 millions are hard, specific figures based on production losses.

Tough Going For Some "That doesn't," he said, "include rangeland deterioration — you can't put that in dollars and cents. And it doesn't include the losses from premature sale of market cattle. And it doesn't include the losses caused by sale of foundation herds at less than replacement costs."

Monday at Washington. Learning that some of the refugees had expressed an interest in the machinery of inaugurating a U.S. president, the Young Republican Club of Allegheny County invited the 14 to accompany them on their special train.

Most Texas cities are booming with their new industries, oil and oil-related wealth. On the other hand, dryland farmers and the small-town businessmen who depend on their purchases are having a rough going.

The President didn't see the locked store entrances or the business places empty of customers. He heard a great deal of the need for cheap and easy federal credit for farms which have suffered seven years of drought, but he couldn't see exactly what it's needed for.

To Prevent Dust Storms

One great need is to prevent farm destruction by wind erosion — the weather phenomenon that results in great dust storms.

H. N. (Red) Smith, head of the Texas office of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, said in November 870,000 acres underwent emergency plowing to protect them from wind erosion. Another 400,000 acres were treated in December. And 6,200,000 acres in 68 counties, he said, are in condition to blow when the winds really get fierce starting in February and continuing through May.

"The farmers are going to have to have to have help either in credit or in government cost sharing," Smith said. "This unquestionably is the worst we've ever had."

In Memoriam 3

CULLISON: In sad but loving remembrance of Marlin Cullison, who was killed 2 years ago, January 17, 1955.

"January brings sad memories Of a son who has gone to rest. He will never be forgotten. By the one who loved him best. Though his smile is gone forever And his sweet face, I cannot touch I shall never lose sweet memories Of my dear son I love so much. I often look at your picture. You are smiling and seem to say: 'Don't grieve, dear dad, I'm only sleeping. You will see me again some day.'" Sadly missed by Dad, NORMAN CULLISON

Here's a fast glance at some of the items purchased with the eight billion dollars the American railroads have spent for improvements and betterments since the end of the war: 18,000 new diesel-electric locomotive units; nearly 700 new passenger cars; 12,000,000 tons of new rails; 300,000,000 new chemically treated ties and a vast amount of electronic and communication equipment to increase safety and efficiency. No other industry in America approaches the railroads in the dramatic fashion in which they have stepped out to improve their plant.

WANTS LINK TO JOIN PITTSBURGH TO SHORTWAY

BRACKENRIDGE, Pa. — Communities in the Allegheny Valley should work to have a limited-access highway built to connect Pittsburgh with the proposed Keystone Shortway, says the executive director of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development.

In an address before the Allegheny Valley Chamber of Commerce last night, Park H. Martin said such a connecting link is vital to the interests of the whole valley. He said the federal government hasn't selected a detailed route for the East-West thoroughway but he feels it would cross the Allegheny Valley at a point near Emlenton in Venango County.

Martin suggested that any connecting link be constructed parallel to Route 28 from Pittsburgh to Kittanning, then northward to a point near Brookville in Jefferson County.

The Keystone Shortway, as recommended by Gov. Leader, would run 291 miles from Sharon to Stroudsburg. It has many opponents in extreme northern and southern tier counties.

At Golden Anniversary

On January 1 the children of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. (Bud) Griest gathered at their home for a surprise celebration in honor of their golden wedding anniversary.

Their five children were present as follows: Clayton Griest, John Griest, Mrs. Byron J. Griffie, Mrs. Millard A. Wolfe and Mrs. Adam Wolfe. One child died as the result of an accident some years ago. The honored couple received many beautiful gifts. The table was decorated and had a five-tier wedding cake as the centerpiece.

The following persons were present: Mr. and Mrs. Clayton A. Griest and Mrs. Edie Stambaugh of York; Mr. and Mrs. John P. Griest of Hallam, R. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wolfe, East Berlin, R. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Griffie and Mr. and Mrs. Millard Wolfe of York Springs, R. D., and the following grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. George R. sponsibility for the acquisition of a connecting road through the valley with its own people.

"It will take united effort," Martin said, "not only on the part of Tarentum, Brackenridge and Harrison Twp. but also on the part of people from Kittanning and other points to the north."

Mr. and Mrs. Griest were married by the late Rev. Charles Baker at Mummert's Church. Mrs. Griest was the former Mary Ann Thomas, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, and Mr. Griest was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Griest. They went to housekeeping at Masemore's Mill.

GRAND CHAMPION BABY BEEF WILL BE NAMED FRIDAY

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
HARRISBURG (AP)—More than 60 tons of prime beef on the hoof came under the scrutiny of judges today in the annual 4-H Club Baby Beef competition at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

At stake was the grand championship of the baby beef class—top honor and top heartbreak of the show. The youngster who sees his pet take the prize must watch him go on the block first for auction Friday. Judges had 113 entries to look over.

after their fifth consecutive title. Entries survived community, county and district competition. They were weighed in yesterday at a total of 123,550 pounds. Also at stake was the grand championship in the 4-H lamb competition for the best pen of lambs.

Auction Is Held
In the first livestock sale ever held at the Pennsylvania Farm Show — not counting 4-H Club sales—40 Hereford heifers and 11 bulls were auctioned last night. The heifers averaged $292 and the bulls $361.

High price was $1,500 paid for "RB Miss Larry 2d" consigned by Bengall Farms and bought by Pennsylvania State University. The high bull price was $750 paid for "THP Double Larry 16st" also consigned by Bengall and bought by John Sipe, Thomasville.

The heavyweight horse pulling contest was won by Clarence Brainerd, of Harford. His team pulled 16.2 tons a distance of 16 feet 7 inches. Second was Leo Zandi, Sheffield, and M. O. Hetrick, New Bethlehem was third.

Hetrick won the lightweight horse pulling contest when his team pulled 11.9 tons the full required distance of 27 1/2 feet. Second was Clifford Darrow, Towanda, and Andrew Bussard, Dayton, was third.

Sales Continue
Swine sales continued today with Duroc Jerseys, Hampshires and Yorkshires on the block. Yesterday 36 Poland Chinas were sold for an average of $69.86; 36 spotted Poland Chinas for an average of $83.06 and 39 Chester Whites for an average of $84.17.

Farm Show officials kept a hopeful eye on the weather. Snow so far cut attendance for the first three days 40,000 below the 1956 figure of 360,000. With good weather through Friday observers felt attendance would just pass the half million mark.

Yesterday 140,000 people toured the huge 14-acre building. Some 2,000 ten-age blue-jacketed members of the Future Farmers of America held meetings throughout the day.

Highlight of their program was the designation of 220 FFA members as "Keystone Farmers" in honor of their achievements in agriculture. Also cited as "honorary Keystone Farmer" was Gov. Leader, a poultry farmer until he took office two years ago.

HELD UNLIKELY KNOWLAND WILL BE IN '60 FIELD

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some colleagues of Sen. Knowland (R-Cal.) said today they see less than a 50-50 chance that he will seek the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

They reached that conclusion after reassessing his announcement last week that he will leave the Senate when his present term expires in January 1959.

His surprise announcement was interpreted widely at first as indicating he plans to run for the Republican nomination for governor in California next year. That move was considered a possible stepping stone toward a bid for the presidency.

No Comment

Knowland declined to confirm or deny the speculation. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California hopes to learn on a visit here in the next few days whether there is any such possibility.

Knigh, planning to attend President Eisenhower's inaugural, expects to confer with Knowland. Knigh, a Republican, has given every indication he wants to run for re-election next year.

If Knowland should choose to seek the governorship, signs now point toward a primary battle with Knigh. The winner, if elected governor, then might pit himself against another Californian, Vice President Nixon, in the battle for the party's 1960 presidential nomination.

Paper Needs Attention

While he hasn't closed the door to this possibility, Knowland has gone a long way toward convincing some of his associates that personal considerations were more influential than political reasons for his decision to retire from the Senate.

Knowland is said to have commented that his family has in the Oakland Tribune a property worth

Seeks Hike For Natural Gas Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. filed an application with the Federal Power Commission yesterday for a 12.2 per cent annual increase in wholesale natural gas rates.

The $24,300,000 proposed hike by Tennessee affects some 70 customers in 13 states including New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Tennessee asked that the increase become effective Feb. 14. It would be in addition to one totalling $8,616,000 now in effect subject to possible refund pending concision of suspension proceedings by the commission.

Wholesale increases are usually passed down the line to retail customers.

several million dollars which he believes needs his personal attention.

He said at the time of his announcement he had always regarded himself as a newspaperman and wanted to get back in that business. He noted that his publisher father is 83 years old.

Could Be "Drafted"

Some of Knowland's colleagues believe Knowland might bow to a "draft" movement if Knigh should change his mind about running again. He might run, they said, if it became apparent there was substantial opposition to Knigh's candidacy among California Republicans.

But unless the path was fairly clear of political pitfalls, some of Knowland's colleagues think he probably would stay out of the governor's race.

It might be doubtful whether he could expect substantial support without holding public office.

RADFORD SAYS IKE RESOLUTION WOULD WIPE OUT CHANCE OF WAR

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford says Congress' passage of the Eisenhower-Middle East resolution would "practically eliminate the chances of war" in that area.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff testified Jan. 8 at a closed session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. His testimony, made public Wednesday after censoring for security, made these other points:

1. The United States has a "definite" military superiority over Russia, probably even somewhat greater than that of a year ago.

2. The United States now has the capability of moving men and material effectively and quickly into the Middle East in case it has to help put out a "brushfire" war.

3. He doubts small wars would break out at the same time in different parts of the world. The Eisenhower resolution does not anticipate that America would have to fight a limited war in the Middle East, but it would make such a war less likely.

The released testimony also disclosed administration figures showing that, as of a week ago today, 417 million dollars is still unused out of already voted foreign aid funds. This included $236,400,000 marked "not firmly programmed" and 180 million tabbed "reserved for programs under active consideration."

Testifies Two Days
President Eisenhower has asked authority to use up to 200 million dollars of existing foreign aid money for the Middle East without restrictions now in the law. Another 200 millions a year is asked for the same purpose during the next two years.

His resolution would also include congressional authorization for use of American armed force in the Middle East in event of overt armed aggression there by the Communists.

Although the resolution has come under some stiff Democratic attack and seems unlikely to get a final vote before mid-February, Radford backed Secretary of State Dulles' plea for fast congressional action without a "great division" in opposition to the resolution.

Dulles completed yesterday two days of testimony and questioning before a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. They called him back for more next week, after Eisenhower's inauguration.

RAY BLISS NOT CANDIDATE FOR TOP GOP POST
By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Ray Bliss, Ohio State GOP chairman, said Wednesday he is not a candidate for Republican national chairman to succeed Leonard W. Hall.

Bliss' statement appeared likely to nip a threatened party revolt against the reported White House choice of H. Meade Acland Jr. of

Spending Averages $416 Per Person

WASHINGTON (AP)—The record federal peacetime spending in the next fiscal year is going to cost every man, woman and child in the country an average of $416 each.

At the same time, each person's share of the all-time record revenue to be collected will amount to $427 each. The extra $11 each makes up the expected surplus for debt reduction.

These figures represent increases per capita in spending and tax collections for the third straight year.

The new average of $416 for spending will be $10 higher than the $406 for the revised estimates for the current fiscal period. It previously had moved up from $394 per person in fiscal 1955 to $399 in fiscal 1956. That means an over-all jump of $22 per person in spending over the period 1955-1958.

Is Ike Backer
Opposition to Alcorn has developed among some Republicans who profess to fear that President Eisenhower's program to "modernize" the party might lead him to ignore or even repudiate some GOP Senate or House candidates in the 1958 election.

Alcorn is regarded as a thorough-going Eisenhower supporter who would follow the President's inclinations if such a situation arose.

Those who talked of opposing Alcorn indicated they regarded Bliss as about the only candidate with a chance of winning. Bliss is chairman of the Midwest and Rocky Mountain State Chairmen's Assn.

Bliss said in a telephone interview that while he had been urged by many national committee members to make the race, he was not a candidate. He said he wants to devote more time to his personal affairs after six years of practically full-time work as Ohio state chairman.

Faced with the opposition to Alcorn, administration lieutenants were reported to have given assurances that if he is named chairman he will work for the election of all party candidates next year.

CHINA, POLAND JOIN TO BLAST POLICIES OF U.S.

WARSAW (AP)—Poland's new regime lined up with Communist China today in a joint statement criticizing U.S. foreign policy and supporting the Kadar government in Hungary.

The declaration signed after five days of talks between Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and the Polish leadership headed by Wladyslaw Gomulka also called for strengthened solidarity of the Communist bloc on principles of sovereignty and equality. But the statement made no mention of Soviet leadership of the Red bloc, which Gomulka earlier in Chou's visit had publicly acknowledged for the first time since he won power on a wave of anti-Soviet feeling three months ago.

Flies To Moscow

The joint declaration's assessment of the Hungarian revolution also was much milder than that pronounced by the Chinese Premier in his speeches in Warsaw. After signing the statement, Chou flew off in a Soviet jetliner for a day's talks with Premier Janos Kadar's Moscow-backed regime in Budapest. He was to return to the Soviet capital today for a brief visit before going on to Afghanistan.

The statement expressed Chou's approval of the "Polish road to socialism" adopted by Gomulka. This system is based on a decentralized economy, widening of personal freedom, and a limited measure of political freedom which does not, however, extend to "non-Socialist" factions.

In return Poland accepted

Chou's assessment of the international situation—that the West is trying to stir new tensions and that the "Socialist" bloc must consolidate its strength.

SAYS BALANCING OF '57 BUDGET BEGS INFLATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said Wednesday that if the new budget proposed by President Eisenhower is balanced, "it will be accomplished with increased inflation."

Some Republicans joined Democrats in criticism aimed partly at the size of the $71,800,000,000 spending budget Eisenhower proposed for the year ending June 30, 1958.

Sen. Schoeppel (R-Kan.) said he believes the message contains "material that may cause considerable controversy," and Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said he expects Congress to "whittle down many of the items."

But Rep. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.) said the outlook for a $1,800,000,000 surplus and the third balanced budget in as many years "is an outstanding administration accomplishment."

TANEYTOWN — Mrs. Robert W. Smith, R. D., has returned from the Olney, Md., facility of the Federal Civil Defense Agency, which she completed a three-day instructor's course in home protection training.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Mrs. John S. Teeter, Willow Brook Farm, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clingan and family, Mrs. James Teeter and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Teeter and family and George Strine.

The sacrament of baptism was administered to Barbara Bruce, infant daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Basil L. Crapster, Gettysburg, at the Taneytown Presbyterian Church, Sunday, by the Rev. Ludwig DeWitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hesson and Miss Mary Fringer were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fair, York Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Christ and family and Mrs. Balthaser, of Shoemakersville, Pa., were recent guests of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Garvin.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clingan, R. D.; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Teeter and Mr. and Mrs. William Teeter, priations Committee, said he considered the three-year record especially significant since it follows tax cuts totaling $7,400,000,000 a year voted in 1954.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, expressed doubts that the forecasts would be realized, saying:

"The small estimated surplus and debt reduction hang on two shaky reeds — first, increase in postal rates; and second, continuing increases in revenue from inflated corporate and individual income taxes."

"These estimates for next year are 5 per cent over the current year and 11 per cent over last year."

Criticizes Suggestions
Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) criticized the President's tax recommendations, saying the administration "has a great facility for forgetting campaign promises — I'm sure he promised tax relief to small business."

In the House, two Democrats were critical of the President's proposed housing program.

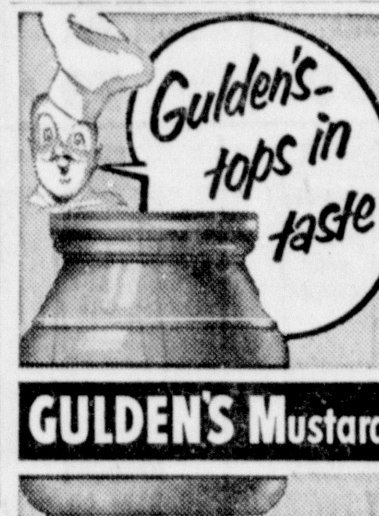

Rep. Rains (D-Ala.), chairman of the House Housing subcommittee, called budget proposals on this subject "pitifully inadequate" and "a keen disappointment."

Rep. Teague (D-Tex.), chairman of the House Veterans Committee, said the recommendation for increasing the GI home mortgage loan rate from 4½ to 5 per cent was "the last step to be taken," and is "not the answer" to the shortage of funds for such loans.

Pontiff Receives Polish Tourists

VATICAN CITY (AP) — For the first time since Poland went behind the Iron Curtain, Pope Pius XII Wednesday received Polish tourists in general audience.

A Vatican informant explained the Pope thus "showed his benevolence" toward the nation which recently freed Stefan Cardinal Wysinsky. The Vatican secretariat of state confirmed that these were the first Poles other than those in exile to be received.

Fifty Poles were among 3,000 received in general audience today. They included artists the Polish embassy said came to Rome to study Italian old masters.

The Pope took special notice of them, saying a few words in Polish.

BIDDLE CLAIMS 6 MONTHS DUTY IS 'GOOD THING'

HARRISBURG (AP) — Maj. Gen. A. J. Drexel Biddle, state adjutant general, said Wednesday that six months' active duty was the "best thing" for National Guardsmen without prior service.

But he took a cautious approach to the argument between the Army and the National Guard Assn. over the new regulation. He said he was "holding in abeyance" comment on Pennsylvania's position until "I've had an opportunity to study our survey's findings."

Undergo Training
The Pentagon announced Monday that Army and guard reservists who enlist after March 31 without prior service would have to undergo six months' training.

The House Armed Services Committee has called for subcommittee hearings on all reserve programs, tentatively set to begin

Mary Anne Arnold, of Taneytown. Warner Hospital Auxiliary members from the Taneytown area are furnishing food for the hospital snack bar this week.

Seek Reaction

He said that area commanders would be contacted in the Pennsylvania survey. He said it also would seek reaction from young men, their parents, school spokesmen and employers.

Biddle said the Army action had been contemplated in 1953-55 when he served as a special assistant to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

"When the matter came up then," he said, "I believed, as I do now, that six months' training is good if the program can be implemented practically."

Biddle plans to attend a meeting of the National Guard Assn. in Washington next Wednesday.

WEEKEND MAYOR

SILVERSTREET, S. C. (AP) — Silverstreet's population of about 150 apparently feels the community is small enough to get along with a "weekend" mayor.

Henry M. Havird fills the office only on Saturdays and Sundays when he stays at the old family home. The rest of the time he lives 65 miles away in Columbia where he holds a position with the South Carolina Employment Security Commission.

HOST TO 60 CHURCHMEN

Rev. Amos D. Meyers was host to approximately 60 ministers and laymen of Methodist churches of the Harrisburg district on Monday night in the York Springs Methodist Church for the first training session of the new approach to the every member canvass, known as the "Sector Program."

The purpose of this plan is to increase the budget of the participating churches. The following churches were represented: The Epworth and Calvary from Harrisburg, Summerdale, Mechanicsburg, Waynesboro, Chambersburg, Mt. Holly Springs, Dillsburg, Wellsboro and York Springs. Before the training session the group was served a baked ham supper by members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the York Springs church.

This is the first of five meetings which will all be held in this church on the following dates: January 28, February 11, March 4 and April 1. Dr. F. Lamont Henninger, district superintendent, was present.

REVIEW LOANS TO BOOST ECONOMY

HARRISBURG (AP)—Five loans to boost Pennsylvania economy had tentative approval and one final approval from the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority. The loans would total $1,284,500 to pay 30 per cent of the cost of new industry in six areas.

A spokesman for the PIDA said Tuesday that "final approval normally follows" tentative certification.

The PIDA gave final approval to a $720,000 loan in Wilkes-Barre to help start operation of a new plant by the Eberhard Faber Pencil Co.

Tentative approval was given grants of $36,000 and $168,000 in Uniontown, $275,000 in Scranton, $30,000 in Beaver Meadows and $37,500 in Sunbury.

The PIDA said it is increasing by $18,000 a tentative loan to the Lewistown Industrial Fund. The loan originally was $72,000.

10 SCIENTISTS
FIND NEW WAY
TO ATOM SECRET

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten scientists have shattered a long-standing fundamental concept of nuclear physics, Columbia University reported on Tuesday.

The discovery, the university said, opens the way for a whole new set of explanations of the atom, the world and the cosmos (the orderly and harmonious arrangement of the universe).

It overturned the "principle of conservation of parity" concept upon which scientists for 30 years have based their predictions on the behavior of the atom. The university said the long-held belief

Day to keep business appointments.

30 — Congressman Dondero is speaker at memorial services in National Cemetery today at 3 o'clock. Fred G. Pfeffer, Gettysburg, named secretary of the Adams County Republican Committee.

31 — Driver, Robert J. Carbaugh, Chambersburg, is hurled from his tractor-trailer on Mt. Newman; in critical condition at Warner Hospital.

will now have to be abandoned in the light of the new discovery.

Skepticism about the parity principle was voiced last year by two Chinese theoretical physicists, Prof. T. D. Lee of Columbia and Prof. C. N. Yang of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J.

Behavior Of Particle

They questioned the behavior of a peculiar atomic particle, a so-called K-meson. The K-meson particle is ripped loose from the heart of an atom by the pounding of a several-billion-volt flying hydrogen atom. The parity theory held the K-meson would disintegrate in one way but it actually broke up in two ways.

The two scientists devised two experiments which they felt would prove the parity theory wrong through actual tests.

Prof. C. S. Wu of Columbia, a Chinese woman, performed one series of experiments in cooperation with Drs. Ernest Ambler, R. W. Hayward, D. D. Hoppes and R. P. Hudson of the National Bureau of Standards.

They cooled down radioactive cobalt 60 to a temperature of .01 degrees above absolute zero, or about 459 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. It slowed down movement of the atoms.

By applying a magnetic field, the spinning cobalt nuclei disintegrated and gave off electrons in a sufficiently greater number in

BRITISH EARL
EXPIRES AT 82

LONDON (AP)—The Earl of Athlone, great-uncle of Queen Elizabeth II, died Wednesday at Kensington Palace. He was 82.

He had been in failing health for some time.

The earl was a younger brother of the late Queen Mary, wife of Britain's King George V. Born Prince Alexander Augustus Frederick William Alfred George of Teck in 1874, he became the first Earl of Athlone and Viscount Trematon when titles of German origin were abolished in Britain in 1917.

After fighting with distinction for Britain in three wars, Lord Athlone was governor general of Canada through World War II, from 1940 until March 1946.

Survivors include his wife, Princess Alice, daughter of the first Duke of Albany and a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, and one daughter, Lady May Abel Smith. One son was killed in an automobile accident in 1928 and another died a few months after birth.

FRANK RECALLS PLAY RESULTING IN RULE CHANGE

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 — Yale University has put another of its gridiron sons in the Football Hall of Fame by honoring Clinton E. Frank, quarterback and captain of its 1937 team.

Clint Frank still carries the 192 pounds he weighed when he played football at Yale from 1935 to the fall of 1937 when he was named All-American quarterback.

Frank was a junior on the 1936 squad when Larry Kelley, captain and end, received the John W. Heisman Memorial trophy from the Downtown A. C. of New York. Kelley, a senior, was also an All-American.

That season became memorable in gridiron circles because Kelley caused coaches and officials to scratch their heads in the Yale-Navy game, Frank recalls.

A punt fell on Navy's 45-yard line when its receiver dropped the ball. Kelley, coming in for a tackle, attempted to make a running pickup but kicked the ball instead.

Rule Is Absent

The pigskin sailed and rolled 41 yards and was downed by Kelley on Navy's 4-yard line. There was no rule preventing this, so the officials gave the ball to Yale on the Navy 4.

Quarterback Frank plunged over the goal line in the closing minutes for a touchdown. Yale won 12 to 6. A hoot and a howl was raised by all of gridiron officialdom. A couple of years later the National Football Rules Committee changed the rule so that a free ball, when kicked, becomes a dead ball. Under today's rule Navy would have retained possession.

Kelley now is with a manufacturing firm in eastern Pennsylvania. Frank, 41, now is a two-listed business executive in Chicago and head of his own advertising firm. His team of 55 employees includes a line of busy stenographers, a backfield of researchers and copy writers, and dependable ends in the art department.

Although Frank's office is on the top floor of the Merchandise Mart, he lives in no ivory tower. He has his fingers on the pulse of major advertising campaigns. The only similarity between his surroundings and the Ivy League is that he works at a mahogany-stained desk and there's a carpet on the floor.

Fundamentally Same Game
How does football of today compare with the game of 20 years ago?

Frank says it's still a game of blocking and tackling and intelligent use of the head on the football field.

The T formation was first coming into use during Frank's football heyday. The single wing was the technique then.

"A lot of people might say there is a difference in the game, but I don't think there's a fundamental change. It's still a great game," says Frank, who lives in Winnetka, a suburb north of Chicago. He has five children, three girls and two boys, ranging in ages from 14 to 1. "Sounds like the odds on a football game. Doesn't it?" he says proudly.

Frozen Cash Hid In Deep Freeze

MATADOR, Tex. — Frozen lettuce was one item Mrs. Harold Campbell had not counted on storing in her ranch home deep freeze near Matador, Tex.

Putting away 500 pounds of frozen steaks and roasts, she noticed one unlabeled package. That she laid aside to thaw for lunch.

Then the Campbell Ranch received an urgent phone call from the butcher in town. He had started looking for the weekend receipts which he had hidden in the freezing department.

Had Mrs. Campbell noticed anything unusual in her purchases? Only the unlabeled package.

She then discovered, to the butcher's delight, that it contained about $1,200 in cool cash.

Gets $440 In $2 Purchase At Sale

LINCOLN, Neb. — For $2 at an auction sale, a Lincoln woman got a dresser, a box containing a doll and other items — and a stock certificate worth $440.

Lancaster County Judge Herbert Ronin ruled, after a trial, that the buyer, Mrs. Robert Martin, was the rightful owner of the certificate, found in the box after Mrs. Martin had brought her purchases home.

The auction was held to dispose of household effects of an estate whose executor contended inclusion of the stock certificate in Mrs. Martin's purchase was an "unconscious mistake."

NEWBERRY, S. C. — Deer, it seems, can be hit in the same place twice.

A father and son — both natives of this region — proved it by killing deer three years almost to the day apart.

To mark the spot of their accomplishment, they notched their initials in an old holly tree in a swamp area near here. One inscription reads W.F.B., 11-11-53, and the other H. S. B., 11-12-56.

INAUGURAL BALL GOWNS GROUPED AT SMITHSONIAN

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Feminine interest in the forthcoming Inaugural festivities here centers on the gown Mrs. Eisenhower will wear to her second inaugural ball and whether it will replace its 1953 predecessor in the "First Ladies' Hall" of the Smithsonian Institution.

The colorful collection already includes Mamie's first inaugural ball gown, a full-length creation of pink peau-de-seoie studded with 2,000 rhinestones, designed by Nettie Rosenstein of New York, who reportedly is making the first lady's gown for this year's ball.

Grouped in the hall are plaster figures of the 36 women who have graced the White House since Martha Washington's day, each dressed in the fashion of the period. The faces are all the same, but the expression of the eyes, the stance, the hairdress and the figure vary with the personality and dimensions of these famous women, giving them individuality.

The idea of getting these ladies together goes back to the early 1900's and is credited to Mrs. Julian James of Washington, a supporter of the Smithsonian. She got a big assist from Mrs. Rose Gouveneur Hoes, descendant of President James Monroe who owned many Monroe heirlooms.

Mrs. Taft
Mrs. William Howard Taft started the collection by donating her own white silk inaugural ball gown in 1912. It was not until May, 1955, that the ladies were placed in their present regal settings. Altogether, 13 of the gowns are those which their owners wore at inaugurations.

The first ladies are probably the most popular exhibit in the national museum and doubtless will be viewed by many more persons than they ever dreamed of seeing in their lifetimes.

Museum authorities looked searchingly at photographs and portraits of the first ladies and combed historic records to create an illusion of reality behind the eight glass cases of a lifelike display in period settings. There are little clues and big ones, hidden in this hall, that have a lot to say about the silent inhabitants.

One Seated

The only seated figure in the elegant rooms, mostly patterned after White House modes, is Martha Washington — shown this sign of respect because she is the eldest of the first ladies present and also because that was the way she received guests.

Dolly Madison carries a book in her hand since, it is said, she usually entered her parlor thus armed with a ready opener for conversation and a source of small talk at the party.

These ladies were the height of fashion, no matter how strange it might seem now, and thus Louisa Catherine Adams, wife of President John Quincy Adams (1825-1829), carries a linen handkerchief one-yard square.

And just-turned-of-age Emily Donelson, wife of President Andrew Jackson's ward, who acted as first lady from 1829 to 1836, has a double-tiered incredible head-dress to bring her blonde tresses just about as high as they could go.

Flapper Style

Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge (1923-29) was the luckless victim of the short dress period of the roaring '20s and appears in what is considered the most ungraceful fashion in the collection — also the only sleeveless dress.

A note of sorrow is the figure of Mrs. Franklin Pierce in somber black mourning for a 12-year-old son killed before his parents' eyes in a railroad accident. The Pierces earlier had lost two other sons.

The only other black in the collection — this time an example of an elegant costume — is worn by Mrs. Edith Wilson. President Wilson's second wife. She is the only lady with her back to the spectator. Museum officials say she wanted it that way and besides the major interest of her dress is in panels of jet sequins that ornament the back and long train.

CLARK BACKS BUILDING OF SUPERHIGHWAY

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

AP, Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) supports proposed construction of a superhighway between Sharon and Stroudsburg, Pa., as a part of the 41,000 mile interstate road system.

In a letter to Mayor Thomas H. Levering of Williamsport, Clark described the proposal — known as the Keystone Shortway — as a "highly desirable project which would make a major contribution to the growth and progress of our state."

At the same time, however, the who had been quite ill, is reported much improved.

Mrs. Anna Jacoby, York, visited recently with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moritz.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Wetzel, Solley, Md., spent Sunday with Mr. Wetzel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wetzel.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Walter recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Leister, Hanover R. 4.

senator warned that the expected over-all cost of the accelerated interstate roadbuilding program probably will run far higher than first estimates.

Need Highways

In the event that this might limit Pennsylvania's part in the program, Clark said, it must be kept in mind that there is urgent need for modern through highways in other parts of the state also.

"If the pressing needs of these areas are promptly recognized, then they cannot legitimately object to the later construction of the shortway," Clark's letter said.

"I believe the shortway should be built, perhaps in sections as funds become available.

"But clearly it will have to be done within a framework of meeting all the needs of all the different areas of the state on the basis of priorities of need."

Clark said his position was taken only after much study and discussion of the proposal with Gov. Leader and with representatives of other areas of the state.

Glad For Support

Levering said in a brief reply received by Clark that he was glad to have the senator's support for the shortway.

"If the turnpike becomes a reality, Williamsport, among other communities in central Pennsylvania, will be relieved of the economic strangulation which has

ACCESSORIES OF FUR ARE NEWEST ELEGANT NOTES

By DOROTHY ROE

The Associated Press

Smart girls this year are using fur accessories.

The current feminine fashions take to fur accents like a small boy to a lollipop. Fur hats, fur mufflers, fur stoles, fur belts and bags are the newest notes in the era of elegance. In many cases they are preferred to fur coats. For instance, many a woman this year chooses a plain black fabric coat, cut on simple lines, and adds the luxury touch of a fur hat and matching muff—and the fur may be anything from mink to American broadtail.

been caused by a lack of adequate transportation facilities," said Levering.

depending on her tastes and her budget. If she doesn't want a muff she may substitute a king-size fur handbag, or a fur collar or ascot, which may be worn with suits as well.

Small, close-fitting stoles also are important in the holiday fur line-up, with fluffy Norwegian fox a new favorite. This handsome and luxurious fur comes at budget prices, and looks like a million.

There is an unlimited assortment of fur accessories in the shops this year, in all price ranges. A trifle such as a fur belt and matching ascot, for instance, would delight any fashion-wise woman. A fur beret would make a young girl do nips-ups in joy. For the woman who likes dramatic fashions, a huge fur muff would be just the ticket.

BOGART, BACALL LOVE STORY WAS "ONE OF BEST"

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The marriage of Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall, which began with all odds against it, became one of Hollywood's best love stories.

It ended only with Bogart's death Monday, from cancer.

They met in 1944, when she was his leading lady in "To Have and Have Not," her first picture. She was a star-eyed 20-year-old who was enamored with the big movie star.

Not Promising Prospect

Bogart was the least promising of husbands. He was a veteran of three unhappy marriages; the last, to actress Mayo Methot, was marked by violent squabbling.

"If you want anything, all you have to do is whistle," she had murmured to him in her first movie. He gifted her with a gold whistle. They were married on author Louis Bromfield's farm in Ohio in May 1945.

In later years, Bogart would crack, "I had to marry you. You chased me so long I had my hand to the wall. I did what any gentleman would do—I acquiesced."

Up Against Odds
Betty, as he called her, had a different story: "He set his sights for me and wouldn't relent until I said 'I will.'"

Betty knew the odds she was up against. But, she recalled later, "I told myself that marriage was a job, that I'd have to work at it real hard, especially in Hollywood. I made it my personal crusade to keep him happy."

At first she discovered he expected her to be like his other three wives — "a companion for his semibachelor existence." But he realized the situation was different when their son Stephen arrived.

Pillars Of Hollywood
"He knew then he was no longer the carefree actor he always thought he was," she said. "He was the head of a family, a man of responsibilities."

His attitude toward life changed. He had been a two-fisted drinker and he had alienated himself from many of his friends. He still drank to the end of his life, but he drank more leisurely after he became a husband and father. He and Betty became accepted as pillars of Hollywood society.

He became more serious about his career. He worried about film roles, despite the fact he was getting more money and bigger money than at any time in his career. He constantly spoke of getting "something to leave" his widow and children. Thanks to several years of hard work, he should have left them well fixed.

His devotion was underlined in his last days. She was with him constantly, watching his strength and keeping his spirits up. They sometimes spoke of future picture deals. Neither of them would face

Man Convicted Of Double Slaying

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—A jury found Edward Novak guilty of murder in the first degree last night in the slaying of a 42-year-old woman and her mother with whom he made his home in Darby, Pa.

The panel of seven men and five women fixed the penalty at death.

Novak, 56, was accused of killing Ella K. Jones and her mother, Mrs. Katherine Jones, 76.

The jury took less than three hours to reach its decision after the nine day trial in Delaware County Court. Novak had created several disturbances during the trial and frequently had to be restrained.

FREELOADERS ON NEW BRIDGE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Delaware River Port Authority has scheduled an informal conference today to discuss the use of its almost completed, but unopened, Walt Whitman Bridge by "unlicensed people," or free-loaders.

A spokesman yesterday admitted there have been "rumors" that unauthorized motorists have been using the bridge, which spans the Delaware River between South Philadelphia and South Jersey.

He said the contractors were to police the use of the 90-million-dollar suspension bridge, which is scheduled for formal opening as a toll bridge sometime in "early spring." However, commuters to and from Philadelphia apparently have been using the bridge for some time, although only a rough concrete surface has been put down for the roadway.

The spokesman said he doubted reports that "hundreds" of these unauthorized motorists have been using the bridge daily. He suggested the report may have been confused by the fact that there are 23 contractors, employing several hundred persons, on the project and their employees are authorized to use the bridge.

The spokesman declined to speculate on what steps might be taken to keep the "bootleg" traffic off the bridge. The authority maintains a uniformed police detail at its other bridge, the Benjamin Franklin Bridge connecting Camden, N.J., with midcity Philadelphia which has a 25 cent toll.

GHS BAND WILL PLAY FAVORITE IKE SELECTION

The hit tune "Ike, Mr. President," composed by Fred Waring with words by Jack Dolph, will be played by the Gettysburg High School band in the parade at the second inauguration of President Eisenhower next Monday afternoon. It will be played every other selection as directed by the Parade Committee. The words follow:

Ike — Mr. President, our hats are off to you,
For you're the man who surely can Securely guide us through
The fear and doubt that is here about

No matter what we do,
So, 'ke — Mr. President, our hats
are off to you,
Halle-lu', halle-lu', halle-lu', halle-lu',
Ike — Mr. President, our hats are off to you!

Ike — Mr. President, I'm just a common man.
But I can work and pray as hard
As anybody can;
And I will fight for what is right
If that must be the plan.

For Ike — Mr. President, I'm just
American.
Halle-lu', halle-lu', halle-lu', halle-lu',
For, Ike — Mr. President, I'm just
American!

Ike — Mr. President, you've won your nation's cheers.
As soldier, statesman, diplomat,
Throughout the passing years;
But as a humble man, who seeks
His guidance from Above.

Ike — Mr. President, you've won
your nation's love.
Halle-lu', halle-lu', halle-lu', halle-lu',

Residents Alerted For Enemy Mines

HANOLULU (AP) — Hawaii residents have been alerted to watch out for enemy mines — not because of any current crisis, but from World War II and the Korean conflict.

The Navy said eight Japanese World War II mines have floated up here in the past 18 months. More are expected.

And, the warning said, Russian-made mines sown by the North Koreans are expected to break loose and float here. Several of the mines already have killed persons in Japan, the Navy said.

BELIEVE POLES TRYING TO BE INDEPENDENT

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials were reported convinced today that Poland's Communist government is still trying to follow an independent line.

They tend to discount, as the result of pressure, Poland's joining Communist China in an attack on United States foreign policy yesterday.

This government is still giving favorable consideration to plans for making surplus cotton and wheat available to Poland, officials said.

But they recognize that political relationships within the Communist bloc are in a state of turmoil. The next few weeks, or even days, could bring developments which would change the American thinking.

The United States has given encouragement to the Polish government of Wladyslaw Gomulka, which took control last fall. Gomulka, a victim of Stalinism in earlier years, became his country's Communist party boss in what appeared to be a break from Russian domination.

But Poland joined with Communist China in a statement attacking the United States policy in the Middle and Far East and calling for "the strengthening of the solidarity of all countries of the Socialist (Communist) camp."

The statement was issued at the end of a five-day visit by Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to Warsaw.

It accused the United States of trying to "subjugate" the Middle East by economic and military pressures and of threatening "the national liberation interests" of peoples in the Far East. It also charged that the North Atlantic Alliance has aggressive aims.

Informed officials said there is as yet no basis for believing the Polish drive toward independence has been reversed. It had to be expected, they said, that Gomulka and his associates might make a tactical retreat under Soviet pressure.

SAY KREMLIN FEARS MIDDLE EAST PROGRAM OF PRESIDENT

By HAROLD K. MILKS
MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign diplomats in Moscow say the Kremlin genuinely fears President Eisenhower's Middle East program and is trying desperately to find an effective counterattack.

The diplomats have talked with Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and other Russian leaders. They say the Soviet reaction sums up to this:

1. The Russians see the Eisenhower doctrine as another step toward Western encirclement of the Soviet Union.

2. Their opposition is not just anti-West propaganda.

3. The Kremlin knows it has to come up with something concrete, not just propaganda, to defeat the new U. S. move.

Drain On Russia

The foreign diplomats point out, however, that the satellites are draining the Russian economy so heavily the Soviet Union can't hope to match U. S. dollars.

Several diplomats in Moscow, including some friendly to the West, also say emphasis on the military side of the Eisenhower program, on the heels of the British-French invasion of Egypt, was a mistake.

"If the military aspects had been dropped or minimized, the program would have been hard to beat," one commented.

Still Off Balance

One diplomat after discussing the Eisenhower proposals with Soviet leaders said he believes the plan "still has the Soviet bosses off balance. They fear it and are seeking effective means of combatting it."

Another diplomat told a reporter: "They know public attacks on the plan are not enough and that they must themselves offer some positive program if they hope to continue holding the spotlight with the Arab nations." The Kremlin is desperately seeking something more effective than a mere propaganda fight, the diplomats said.

They agree that, despite boasts of prosperity, the Soviet Union is in no condition to match U. S. offers of economic help in the Middle East.

Costs Mounting

"Heavy demands at home and within the family of satellites is placing a severe strain on the Soviet Union's own liquid resources," one source observed. "Today the satellites are leaning on the Soviet Union instead of contributing to its development."

"And the cost of keeping other East European Communist nations in even a fairly healthy condition gets higher and higher each year."

Published agreements with other Communist nations in the last two months reflect the heavy drain on Soviet foreign exchange and food reserves by Poland, Rumania and East Germany, as well as smaller demands by other Communist countries.

"This economic picture shows the Soviet Union's master planners will be slow in recommending an attempt to match American dollars with Soviet rubles in the Middle East," a diplomatic source said.

THREE WORKMEN ARE KILLED IN PIPELINE BLAST

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP)—An explosion flashed through a big pipeline compressor station here in the southwest corner of Kansas yesterday, killing three workmen and threatening natural gas supplies as far east as Detroit.

Officials of Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. said they hoped to restore deliveries to 70 per cent of normal today.

They indicated this would mean no curtailment of gas for household use along Panhandle Eastern's system in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

Several Million Loss

Industrial users in the six states were cut off immediately. The whole area presently is in the grip of a cold wave.

The were about 25 men in the plant. Fourteen were burned and battered by the explosion. Three were reported in critical condition. Four were released from a hospital after treatment.

The blast blew the metal roof and sides off the main compressor building, 364 by 68 feet. It wrecked the engines and compressors. An adjoining machine shop was heavily damaged. Five other buildings and eight houses on the 80-acre plot 15 miles northeast of Liberal had lesser damage.

One company official said the loss might run several million dollars.

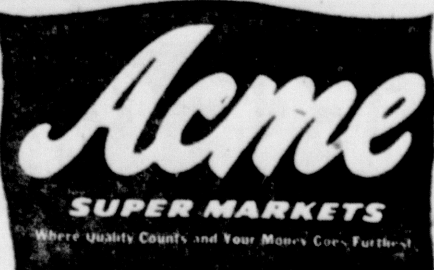

GOOD GRADUATES

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP)—A century-old custom still is popular for graduating classes at Wofford, Methodist college here.

The custom is that the graduate gets a new Bible from the college along with his diploma.

Every faculty member and all top administrators sign each Bible.

YOUTH EVENTS MARK MID-WEEK AT FARM SHOW

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
HARRISBURG (AP) — Youth keynote mid-week activities at the Show Wednesday as more than 2,000 Future Farmers of America met in annual convention.

High spot of the program was the designation of 220 FFA boys for the honorary degree of "Key-stone Farmer" in recognition of their work in agricultural projects.

Joining the youths will be Gov. Leader—himself a former poultry farmer—and 36 other farmers, conservationists, businessmen and educators. They were elected as "Honorary Keystone Farmers" by the State FFA in recognition of their efforts on behalf of agriculture.

In conjunction with the convention of the farm boys, the Future Homemakers of America called their annual meeting. Honorary memberships in the FHA were awarded to four regional home-making education advisers.

Highest Degree
The Keystone Farmer degree is the highest a boy can earn at the state level.

From the select group six were named for special recognition: John A. Brown, 20, Susquehanna R. D., state star farmer; Byron A. Martz, 17, Dalmatia R. 1, as state star dairy farmer; and three regional star farmers—Forest C. Laudenslager, 17, New Tripoli R. 1; Paul T. Saylor, 17, Beaverstown; Harold E. Hay, 18, East Berlin R. 4, and Richard Yarian, 17, Sharon R. 2.

Other activities at the show continued at full tilt with judging of livestock entries continuing at a rapid pace to clear the way for the 4-H club baby beef competition Thursday.

Meanwhile, 11 statewide farm organizations held annual meetings. Royce E. Willie, of the poultry inspection branch of the U. S. Agricultural Marketing Service, told the annual meeting of the State Poultry Federation that compulsory poultry inspection may soon be a reality.

Tuesday night more than 10,000 persons packed into the huge Farm Show Arena to witness the annual entertainment feature of the exposition—the rural talent festival with more than 400 volunteer participants.

Weather trimmed the Tuesday crowd to 95,000, an increase over Monday, but the smallest second day crowd in more than five years. Sub-zero temperatures and snow hampered visitors.

With no break in the weather predicted, show officials conceded the week's attendance total may be one of the smallest since World War II.

TENSION RISES; ISRAEL DELAYS TROOPS RETREAT

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Uneasiness mounted in the U.N. Wednesday over Israel's delay in withdrawing its invasion forces completely from Egypt.

Israel announced her troops would quit Egypt's Sinai Peninsula by Jan. 22—except for the key point of Sharm el Sheikh, commanding the approach to the Red Sea Gulf of Aqaba.

The Israeli decision was communicated to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Asian-African nations framed a resolution condemning Israel's slow pullback and calling in effect for economic sanctions against her until she withdraws behind the 199 armistice lines.

An Israeli delegation spokesman made clear his government plans to hold Sharm el Sheikh as a lever to obtain U.N. guarantees against Egypt's again barring Israeli shipping from the Gulf of Aqaba, the only water route to southern

'CRIMINAL TYPE' DESCRIBED IN MIDWEST STUDY

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — A Marietta College professor, completing a study of Midwest criminals, claims the study offers proof that there is a "criminal type."

Dr. Max N. Burchard, 31-year-old sociology professor, said the results of a series of tests have been compiled to form a classification he terms the "pro-habitual convict" or the "criminal type."

Here are some other characteristics of the "criminal type," according to Dr. Burchard's survey:

The criminal type does not plan his crimes effectively, is easily apprehended, is convicted on a guilty plea, earns one or more parole, is easily controlled while in prison, and does not go to prison school.

He has no feeling of responsibility, seems to feel more secure behind bars, is a lonely, derelict type, is as inept at criminal actions as he is in everyday life, and has no desire to improve his station.

"The description provided by these characteristics," Dr. Burchard concludes, "should be quite helpful in the control and prediction of the behavior of such individuals."
